Comment

When Jesus walked the roads of Palestine, life after death was a disputed question. Today's story of Jesus' response to the Sadducees is from Luke's Gospel. The Sadducees were a learned group of men who adhered to a strict interpretation of the Hebrew Scriptures. They were a priestly aristocracy that was closely allied with the Temple. The Sadducees counted only the Torah as definitive Scripture; furthermore, they did not believe in life after death, nor did they have a messianic doctrine.

For the Sadducees, Jesus was clearly a problem. Defeating his arguments would render his mission void and make his witness and words useless. They proposed an argument based on their reading of the Law, which obliged a man to marry the widow of his deceased brother if the brother has died and fathered no male child. This arrangement speaks strongly to the value of securing the future in the name of the male head of household. With no belief in an afterlife, one's future hope is one's children—or, in the case here, one's sons.

The Sadducees "lay it on thick," betraying their need to win at all costs. They suggest one widow and seven husbands. Jesus uses the Torah to argue the Torah, recalling the venerable patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Then, he just applies clear logic. If God is a God of the living, and these three giants of faith are dead, what then? If these patriarchs are dead, then God is not a God of the living. If God is a God of the living, then they are alive beyond their bodily death. They are eternally with God.

Jesus spends little time discussing what eternal life is like, except to say that it more resembles the life of angels. It's worth noting that the Sadducees also did not believe in angels. Nonetheless, Jesus used these spiritual beings to emphasize the enduring life of the human spirit.

Reflection

The first reading from Second Maccabees mentions life after death, and this is doubtless why it finds itself at the head of these three Sunday readings. The seven Maccabees and their mother gave their lives to defend the holiness of the Temple, which was threatened with desecration during the rule of the Greeks. The second and fourth brothers attest to their belief in the reality of life after death. In this reading and in the book of Daniel (7:13, 27; 12:2), we come upon references to a new idea in Israel—the possibility of life after death. The books of Maccabees and Daniel are among the last written books of the Catholic canon of the Old Testament, or Hebrew Scriptures. The two books of Maccabees were written within the last century before the birth of Christ, for example, so we can see why life after death was a disputed question in the Palestine of Jesus' day.

Paul's faith in Christian resurrection is beyond question and totally grounded in Jesus' resurrection. Today's reading from the second Letter to the Thessalonians addresses a rising problem in the early Church. Many held that Jesus' second coming was imminent. He had died and risen and said he would come again. Many believed that this meant that Jesus would come soon. After all, what else was there to do? In his resurrection, they were saved. They were ready and waiting.

But some were ready and idling, and this was the problem Paul addressed. However, Paul talks about progress and constancy and keeping faith. He reminds us to get a life and to live it. He further reminds us that God keeps faith and so must we. Eternal life with God is our hope, and God will take care of this. Our job is to be constant in our faith.

Hurricane Prayer

O God, Master of this passing world, hear the humble voices of your children. The Sea of Galilee obeyed your order and returned to its former quietude; you are still the Master of land and sea. We live in the shadow of a danger over which we have no control. The Gulf, like a provoked and angry giant, can awake from its seeming, lethargy, overstep its conventional boundaries, invade our land and spread chaos and disaster. During this hurricane season, we turn to You, O loving Father. Spare us from past tragedies whose memories are still so vivid and whose wounds seem to refuse to heal with the passing of time. O Virgin, Star of the Sea, Our Beloved Mother, we ask you to plead with your Son on our behalf, so that spared from calamities common to this area and animated with a true spirit of gratitude, we will walk in the footsteps of your Divine Son to reach the heavenly Jerusalem where a stormless eternity awaits us.

Thank You EVERYONE !!!!

For all that you do, our Annual Family and Friends Day was a success because all of us coming together to support the continuing growth of our parish, the true meaning of family and friends.
