Reflection

Saffron is a spice of great value widely used in the cuisines of the world. The tiniest amount of saffron will impart a luminous yellow color to a dish large enough to feed many people. This disproportion between the amount of saffron used and its effects has a parallel in what Jesus said to the disciples about “faith the size of a mustard seed” being able to move mountains.

Many of us struggle with faith. There can be periods when God seems absent from our lives and we feel we are drifting away from him. We don’t have the uplift of experiencing the presence of God in our lives, and our decisions to act in accord with faith are sometimes painful exercises of the will. It may seem as if our faith has dwindled to less than the size of a mustard seed or a speck of saffron. The sense of losing our faith can be profoundly disturbing.

The most useful attribute at a time like this is objectivity. Standing back and looking at what we are doing that is in accord with faith in God and discipleship can be very revealing. Helping those in need, commitment to family and work, exercise of virtues such as honesty and truthfulness, and even our attempts at prayer are all evidence of faith. Like the coloring of saffron they show that what we have is faith, and it is suffusing our lives.

St. Teresa of Calcutta used to encourage people to be Christ to others with the words: “Christ in our hearts, Christ in the poor we meet, Christ in the smile we give and in the smile that we receive.” Her writings published after her death show that at the same time she was experiencing a deeply painful sense of God being absent and she even thought she had lost her faith.

“If there be God - please forgive me. When I try to raise my thoughts to Heaven, there is such convicting emptiness that those very thoughts return like sharp knives and hurt my very soul,” she wrote. “How painful is this unknown pain - I have no Faith.”

When Jesus speaks to the disciples about the servant doing his duty he is reminding them that discipleship has obligations. At the very time Mother Teresa felt that she had no faith her actions were living proof that he faith—like the speck of saffron—was infusing everything she did and that she was fulfilling the obligations of discipleship with great dedication.

Faith is not about how we feel, it is about what we do.

Hurricane Prayer

O God, Master of this passing world, hear the humble voices of your children. The Sea of Galilee obeyed your order and returned to its former quietude; you are still the Master of land and sea. We live in the shadow of a danger over which we have no control. The Gulf, like a provoked and angry giant, can awake from its seeming, lethargy, overstep its conventional boundaries, invade our land and spread chaos and disaster. During this hurricane season, we turn to You, O loving Father. Spare us from past tragedies whose memories are still so vivid and whose wounds seem to refuse to heal with the passing of time. O Virgin, Star of the Sea, Our Beloved Mother, we ask you to plead with your Son on our behalf, so that spared from calamities common to this area and animated with a true spirit of gratitude, we will walk in the footsteps of your Divine Son to reach the heavenly Jerusalem where a stormless eternity awaits us.
